

Control Products considers return to work after an illness or exposure to the Corona Virus to be a critical issue. Your return affects the Company's ability to remain open and serve our customers. Returning to work poses a potential risk to every employee.

If you have been out sick for three or more days or have been exposed to an infected individual, you must have a release from a Doctor or Health Care facility. A clear COVID19 virus test result is the preferred proof.

Knowingly coming to work when you are aware that you have been exposed without notifying the Company is grounds for termination.